

One-Way Trolley Entrance Again Before Aldermen

Alderman Haines Introduces Resolution That Trolley Road Receive and Discharge Passengers on One Side of Car Only—Aldermen Accept Invitation to Inspect Water Shed—Other Matters.

Tuesday evening in the Central Fire Station. The council also accepted an invitation from the board of water commissioners to attend the annual inspection of the city's watershed which will occur Monday. All of the aldermen were present except Alderman Everett, president of the council, who is confined to his home with an attack of tonsillitis. Alderman Sharkey of the Twelfth ward was elected to preside in his absence.

The Trolley Question.

The trolley question, which has been before the council before, came up when Alderman Haines of the Second ward introduced a resolution that the Kingston Consolidated Railroad be directed to take on and discharge trolley car passengers on one side of the car only.

In speaking on the resolution Alderman Haines said that the present method of allowing passengers to leave and enter on either side was very confusing to tourists, as in other cities passengers could only enter or leave on the right side. He said some action should be taken. Alderman O'Reilly expressed the opinion that the corporation counsel should be directed to draft an ordinance. Alderman Fox said he had heard the same matter agitated before in the common council and at that time it had been referred to the railroad committee and that was the last heard of it.

Haines resolution was referred to Alderman DeGarmo, chairman of the railroad committee, to take the matter up with General Manager TeBow of the trolley road and report back to the council what action the trolley road would take, when the council could take action.

Addison D. Jones of 21 Shufeldt street filed a damage claim for $150 for alleged damages to his Dodge truck which he claimed skidded on Bruyn avenue on May 6. It was referred to the corporation counsel and auditing committee.

Both Jones and Storms claim that the accident was due to the board of public works oiling Bruyn avenue.

City Clerk A. A. Styles read a communication from Mayor E. J. Dempsey regarding the excellent work of the various city departments during the city hall fire on Saturday night. The communication read as follows:

As usual, the fire department functioned perfectly. Both the regular paid men and the volunteers worked together in a way which was a credit to them and to the city. No place was too dangerous or duty too hazardous. They were skillfully trained, and obtained results which now seem impossible. The equipment, in perfect condition for service, was brought to the fire quickly and so disposed as to give the greatest service. Such a complicated piece of machinery as the new aerial, used for the first time at a fire of this latitude, save the service it did because of the thorough training received by its crew in the short time since its arrival. No single person is named who expressed his fellows in service. Captain Muehl was injured painfully and seriously, but I am glad to say that no permanent effects will result.

The police department was so off-in both the police and fire departments, members of duty, on starting of the fire and without notification, immediately present themselves for duty on uniform. Nothing further can be said in will be "The Cradle Snatchers," now playing at the Roxy Theatre, together with the best of vaudeville.

Local Girl Scout Director Resigns

Nearly the entire council was present last Wednesday at a regular meeting of the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts which was held at the home of Commissioner Mrs. George Halliday in Walkkill.

A picnic supper was served in one of the new screened shacks, and after supper the members of the council made a tour of inspection of the camp under the guidance of Mrs. Halliday.

The camp has been brought to a high state of perfection, nothing has been left undone for the comfort of the campers and workers alike.

Everything is well screened this year, latrine, hospital, shack and all of the other shacks. Three shacks were added last year, and three this year. Water is being pumped into the kitchen and there is a new hotel range.

After the tour of inspection the council listened to a very fine report of the work done throughout the county the past two years, and also accepted with regret the resignation of Mrs. Elanque M. Storr, who has been local director for the past two years.

Cedar Ridge at Irvington Opens

Fitting Memorial Day exercises marked the opening of Cedar Ridge community, in the Village of Irvington, N. Y., on Monday, May 30. Maurice H. Rice of this city, who is the owner of Cedar Ridge, accompanied by members of his family, attended the ceremonies, which consisted of a big parade from the Town Hall, headed by a band, a ball game and a number of addresses. Mayor Matthew J. Murphy delivered the principal address. Following the exercises the participants composed of county and village officials and a large gathering of residents of Irvington and vicinity, enjoyed refreshments, which were served until evening, from the little mountain cabin office that is nearing completion at the new stone entrance to the property. The home sites were also viewed throughout the day.

The Irvington Gazette in its report of the exercises makes special mention of the presence of Senator Rice as follows:

"Among those in Mr. Rice's party was his father Senator Rice, who for many years represented Ulster county in the State Senate, and who in spite of his advanced age, insisted upon being present throughout the ceremonies. Many village residents renewed an old time acquaintance with Senator Rice."

TRINITY LUTHERAN SPIDER WEB SOCIAL

A spider web social and entertainment will be given by the Senior and Junior, Lutheran Leagues, in the basement of Trinity Lutheran Church, Spring and Hone streets, on Friday evening, June 10.

At seven o'clock sharp the spider web will be ready to unravel. The names of the first and last to enter the web will be announced from the platform. It is a great pastime to watch the breaking of the web. It is a beautiful sight to behold the web spun, therefore it is worth while to be early enough to see it before it is unraveled.

Immediately after the web is removed the entertainment will begin, which it is hoped will be appreciated by all. Admission tickets include refreshments. The committee is making every effort to make the affair successful. The public is cordially invited to enjoy a worth while evening.

Winsome Dresses for Little Ones

Gingham and Cambric Are Regarded Practical for Playtime Frocks.

The crispness of freshly tabbed frocks, the rhythm of movement which accompanies full skirts and the lack of self-consciousness found with simple dressing; these are three of the principal factors that make children distinctively dressed.

The smartest dresses for children are of cotton fabrics which have been woven and dyed for a hard-boiled future in the washtrub. Gingham and cambric are practical for playtime frocks, says the Woman's Home Companion.

Pure but light colors are most appropriate. Pink is usually the favorite color of youngsters and is always becoming but pink covers a multitude of hues and some are much too harsh for little girls. The pure, rather light pink of Killarney roses is the most delectable shade. It is harder to find than the harsh pinks but is enough prettier to justify a little search. A clear opaque blue, light without being pale, is a delightful contrast to pink cheeks. So is blue-lavender. Sun-yellow and caramel shades make joyous frocks but orange is far too strong and harsh. A fresh green is equally becoming to blondes and brunettes and is the coolest possible color for summer. Red, dark, dark green and brown are practical but we ones have a lifetime of these colors ahead of them and should therefore be limited to the light tints for at least the first five or six years.

Plain colors are best but fabrics with a white thread woven in with the color are exceedingly chic. The tiny-checked patterns and narrow stripes give an added crispness which is desirable and are especially suited to some children. The tiny motifs found in English prints are charming in the piece but are often disappointing when made into frocks. They are never quite so distinctive as the others.

The most elegantly and most artistically dressed children wear always the same models. One is the yoke dress. The yoke may extend only an inch below the base of the neck or it may be three inches deep, but in either case it extends straight across the front and back and the skirt is attached by means of smocking or gathers. There is always a set-in sleeve which may be short, three-quarters or long. The other model is the smocked frock with raglan sleeves. This is smocked deeply from the base of the neck out for two or three inches, sometimes in deep points and again in circular fashion with a zig-zag edge.

These smocked frocks are usually expensive but if the mother who must consider cost has time and will learn to smock she will find it very entertaining. The proficient smocker requires no pattern. After the material has been prepared in smug even gathers she makes two or three parallel guiding lines with a pencil and is then free to chart whatever course her fancy suggests. The beginner, however, stamps guiding dots on her fabric and works out the selected pattern according to directions.

Chic New Yoke Effect; Plaited Beige Chiffon

This very attractive street frock of black front craps features the new yoke effect of plaited beige chiffon. The same treatment is applied to the sleeves. Paucant braids trim neck and sleeves and form the belt.

Frocks From London

Little smocked frocks of printed pongee come from London. They have the youthful chic that one always associates with clothes created at a famous establishment in Regent street.

Silks Have Small Designs

The summer of the new silks have small conventional designs in multi-colored du-tone effects.

Dance at Flatbush

A dance will be held at the T. X. Club House on the Flatbush road tonight. The public is invited. A competent committee is in charge and a good time is assured. Refreshments will be served. Music by Paul Zucca and his orchestra.

THE HANDY POST CARD.

The young business woman whose friend had been trying to get her on the telephone for a week in vain lamented that more people do not acquire the postcard habit. A friend may telephone her when she is crossing the street towards her apartment. Friend gets no answer, and decides that she is out for the evening. Next evening friend telephones during the five minutes that she has gone down to the janitor's suite, to get a package delivered during the day and held there for her. The third evening friend tries later, while the business woman is walking over to the street car with her sister who dined with her. Friend decides, "No use trying to get Ella, she's never at home to answer her telephone," while as a matter of fact Ella has been at home all three evenings.

Had the friend confided her line or two to a postcard, Ella would have had the message within 24 hours and could have replied in another 24. Few messages of the "Come out over the week end," "Can you have luncheon with me at the City Club Friday at one?" variety are too formal or too confidential for the postcard. Letter paper, an envelope and a stamp seem to call for beginnings and endings and other formalities. But the handy postcard, and the handy pencil will do the trick as informally and more quickly than the telephone in nine cases out of ten. And how much they would add to the gracious silence of life!

LESS INSANITY AND STRESS.

Some of our inimitable statisticians, aided and abetted by alienists, give an impression that the world is going crazy. They revel in figures tending to show that insanity is rapidly increasing and they explain the alleged increase by the complexity and stress of modern life. And because modern life seems to be growing steadily more complex and stressful, the situation looks hopeless.

A sudden note of cheer is injected into this field of thought by Dr. Alex Herschfeld, a Chicago authority, director of the Illinois Psychopathic Institute. He is optimistic about the mental state of society, he says: "Because the world, growing more intelligent, is studying the workings of the mind; because insanity is on the decrease, and because life in large cities, contrary to general opinion, does not harass human beings into mental breakdowns."

As for "stress," that is usually exaggerated. Life seems strenuous and complex because we see people in the mass engaged in so many different activities that we over-estimate the activity.

A can of fishing worms may seem to be squirming in intense activity, but keep your eye on any single worm, and you find that it moves very slowly. It is somewhat like that with human beings. Individually, most of us pursue our own little round of activities, living a pretty simple and leisurely life, in spite of all the apparent bustle. And there may be less strain because we do less and less for ourselves, depending more and more on the services of other people, and machinery.

BORDER-CROSSING CANADIANS.

Secretary Kellogg has written an explanatory letter to Vincent Massey, Canadian Minister to the United States, which seems to clear up an annoying situation. A recent order from the immigration bureau of the Department of Labor seemed to require passports of Canadians who have been enjoying border-crossing privileges. Canada very naturally resented this. Thoughtful citizens in this country regarded it as unjust and unwise. As explained by Secretary Kellogg, the order is not so drastic.

Native-born Canadians who "acquired border-crossing privileges before the effective date of the present immigration act" are not bothered with this recent order. Neither are native-born Canadians who wish to come into the United States to start, whether they had previously acquired border-crossing privileges or not.

The people to whom the order applies are "Canadian residents not native-born Canadians, who have acquired border-crossing privileges since the "quota" system of immigration became effective." Checking up on these people is regarded as necessary to prevent Europeans from using Canada as a temporary stopping place before they walk across the border in evasion of the immigration law.

If this is the fact, and the order is enforced systematically and sensibly after being made plain to the government and people of Canada, there should be no serious difficulties and no hard feelings over the matter. The United States has no better friend among the nations than Canada. This friendship should be valued and cordially returned, not hampered by annoying immigration rulings.

A FITTER TRIBUTE.

The great, warm-hearted public is hard on its heroes. Consider the case of Charles Lindbergh. Apparently that young man had in mind several definite and sensible plans to be carried out if he reached Paris. The flight, which has so thrilled the world, seems to have been to him just a part of the day's work. It was a more hazardous and unusual part than his normal routine. But he lacked it like an aviator and not like a would-be hero.

Once safely in Paris, he planned to travel a while in Europe, chiefly visiting aviation centers, studying airplanes and methods there, talking with leading aviation men, learning something of what Europe has to teach America about flying. This thoroughly commendable plan could not be carried out because the hero-worshipping public made it impossible. Every honor and kindness and word of praise that has been given Lindbergh is well-deserved. America should be both proud and grateful for the gracious promptness with which the Old World honored him. But the fact remains that one of the fine tributes that might have been paid him—giving him that coveted chance to have a normal, happy stay abroad seeing the things that most interested him—has been denied him. It is only too likely to be the same or worse in this country. American enthusiasm and hero-worship, it allowed to rage unchecked, would probably delay his resumption of serious activity in his chosen field indefinitely.

The young man himself has displayed the personal qualities of poise, good sense and good will in an amazing degree, but the finest human nervous system can stand only a limited amount of strain. It is to be hoped that America, in its pride and joy, does not lionize its beloved young hero beyond that limit. He deserves a different tribute from us.

PERNICIOUS ANAEMIA.

One of the serious and fatal ailments that attacks our middle aged is called pernicious anaemia.

Anaemia, as you know, is simply thin blood, and in anaemia there is a lessening of the food contents of the little red cells. In pernicious anaemia, however, there is also a lessening in the number of the little red cells themselves.

Just what causes this trouble is as yet unknown. In fact a building to study this disease alone is now being erected in Chicago. It would appear that folks at the age of 45 to 55, mostly men, are the ones who are attacked most frequently.

Men of powerful physique, and above the average mentally, are stricken down just in the prime of life.

One of the latest ideas is that it is due to some interference with the action of the ductless glands, so that their secretion which should be a blood builder, may be actually helping to destroy the red blood corpuscles.

Another cause is thought to be some active infection from some source in the body such as bad teeth, tonsils, perhaps antrum or sinus trouble.

And last but not least, the idea that intestinal putrefaction is the cause. This, perhaps being due to the fact that the individual is so intent on mental work, that the natural impulses from the brain which stimulate movement all down the intestine are interrupted, and often cease for minutes at a time.

I have spoken before of how transfusion of blood from a healthy subject to the patient, has often arrested the course of the ailment, and the patient enjoys good health for months and even for years.

Arsenic, iron, extract of bone marrow, have all been used, but transfusion is the most effective method of arresting the progress temporarily.

However another form of treatment, that of a rich protein diet has been used by Dr. I. C. Bull of Portland, Ore., who gave his patients a generous liver and beefsteak diet with excellent results. There were three cases, all of over three years' standing.

To this diet was added "an abundance of fresh fruits and vegetables." Now generous helpings of liver and beefsteak for the average indoor worker would be a mistake, and would give the kidneys and liver too much to do, but where the blood, and the body generally, need building up in pernicious anaemia or tuberculosis, beefsteak and liver are clearly indicated.

Some physicians are giving as much as a pound of beef liver a day to patients with pernicious anaemia.

A motor car on a trip round the earth's equator would take about 17 days 8 hours, at a speed of 60 miles an hour. A little less than five years would cover the distance at the same speed round the sun. But to circle Antares, the largest known star, would take approximately 1,370 years, for the diameter of Antares is estimated at more than 224,000,000 miles, which is more than 300 times that of the sun.

Anger Will Spoil Mashed Potatoes

Emotional Upsets May Make One Man's Meat Another Man's Poison — Don't Eat While Filled.

Some persons actually find that certain common foods are poisonous to them, yet food specialists at the state college of home economics at Ithaca, N. Y., say that some of the reasons why foods affect in this way is because of a meal-time error in the past, such as over-eating, an emotional upset, or because the food was poorly prepared or was spoiled. This past experience then associates itself with the food each time that kind of food is eaten.

Many so-called food idiosyncrasies which cause indigestion are the result of some emotional situation which has been associated with the food. Sometimes these associations are made so early in life that they are forgotten and the habit may seem a real condition. A child who is angry, frightened or for some reason is particularly disturbed during a meal at which mashed potatoes are served may unconsciously retain such a vivid impression of the occasion that although the event is forgotten, mashed potatoes always recall the response to the emotion and make him sick. Evidently the food is not to blame; his mental condition is the cause of the difficulty.

Sometimes people over-eat a favorite food and then they have rashes or nausea or other digestive disorders, which may lead to the belief that the special food and not the excessive amount eaten is the trouble. Tiredness or worry while eating, or badly-prepared or spoiled food may develop dislikes of certain foods strong enough to cause vomiting or other symptoms of a digestive disturbance whenever the food is eaten.

The college suggests that people should always take plenty of time to eat, the meal should be properly prepared and should be eaten in pleasant, peaceful surroundings, and no food should ever be eaten in excess.

Mrs. Martha Freeze and daughter, Beatrice, were callers on Mrs. J. Weimar Sunday evening.

Puzzled Margaret

"Tossy our hats should have cost more than planes," said little Margaret as they walked along. "They don't, dear," said her mother. "What made you think so?" "Well, that sign in the window says: 'Hats, $10 up' and just now I saw a sign in another window, 'Planes, $10 down.'"

FORM PERMANENT FLOOD CONTROL BODY

LATEST MOVEMENTS OF THE WORLD ON WHEELS.

Pierce-Arrow passenger car shipments for May were the greatest in the history of the company. Following the recent $500 price reduction on certain body types of the smaller Pierce-Arrow car, the sales expansion resulted in May shipments which were 12 per cent greater than those of the preceding month and 15 per cent greater than for May, 1926.

In line with the demand which is sweeping the country, Nash Motors enters June with 20 per cent more shipping orders on the books than were received for June a year ago.

This is true in both the domestic and export fields and in overseas shipments all previous May records were shattered last month.

Over 1,700 cars sold in May, sets a new record for Peerless. The daily output at the factory is now well over 100 cars a day, with sales orders far in advance of production. Gains for Willys-Knight and Whippet motor cars for the first quarter of this year, as shown by complete registration figures now available for New York, reached a high total of 77 per cent, according to a statement just given out by the Willys-Overland sales department. The industry as a whole showed a gain of 15 per cent for the same period. Incomplete figures for the entire United States for the first four months of the year show a Willys-Overland increase of 14 per cent while the figures for the industry as a whole disclose a loss of six per cent.

May production of Oakland-Pontiac Sixes smashed all previous records for the company which delivered 24,000 cars to dealers, thereby setting up a new record 20 per cent higher than last month, which was the biggest month in the company's history.

Oriental Tales

Every ancient nation has had its myths and epics of heroes bold. The East has given us many such tales from its imaginative writers. The greatest known collection of these mythical stories is the "Arabian Nights." Of similar character, but less fascinating, is the "Epic of Kings" from the writings of the Persian poet Ferdusi, who, at the command of his sovereign, rendered stories of the deeds of Persian kings into verse. There are stories of shahs, beasts, dragons, noble warriors, and kings who reigned a thousand years. The style of the translation is poetical and also biblical; in fact, for narratives of this type, somewhat ponderous and tedious. The stories are hidden beneath a burden of language. However, the matter is delightful and the illustrations, which were furnished by Wilfred Jones, are truly Oriental in brilliance and form.

Parson—"Why do you desire to join the church?"

Rastus—"Parson, I've got a job puttin' a roof on a chicken house and fencin' a watermelon patch,—an' I needs strengthenin'."

Another thing that can't be done is to hold down a job without stayin' on it.

Some people get behind because they look too far ahead.

Mother (severely)—How dare you take the money from your missionary box?

Willie—Didn't you say I was a regular little heathen?

"You are far worse."

"Well, I was saving the money for the heathens; and first come first served."

Teacher—Willie, do you believe the devil will get us if we're naughty?

Willie—I don't know, ma'am; but I do know that we will get the devil if we're found out.

The most numerous type of suckers is the poor fish who believes he can violate every law of nature and be relieved of its penalties by medicine or surgery.

It's always darkest just before the dawn.

Edith—I saw Helen yesterday and we had the loveliest confidential chat together.

Ethel—I thought so; she wouldn't speak to me today.

"Jes' keepin' de Bible on de pariah table won't get you to hebbin' brother; you got to use it."

A fellow who has tried it, tells us the best way to get money out of chickens is to have a steady income from some other source.

Miss Teacher: Perry, I am punishing you because I love you.

Boy: Gee, teacher, I wisht I was big enough to return your love!

"Messages to Mars accepted. Delivery guaranteed."

This announcement, exhibited at a branch of the Western Union Telegraph Company, attracted great interest.

"Do you really guarantee delivery?" asked a caller.

"Certainly we do," was the answer. "There's a town called Mars in Pennsylvania, U. S. A., and we guarantee delivery!"

There are only two classes of people who never make mistakes—the dead and the unborn.

The trouble with reciprocity is that everyone is trying to get back just a little more than he gives.

Some of the present day marriages should be listed in the matrimonial market as short-term bonds.

If a liar gets religion it's hard for him to keep from exaggerating about the joys of heaven.

What did people blame for their unpopularity before halitosis was invented?

"Why is mother rolling up her sleeves?"

"To punish Mame for rolling down her stockings."

He that tootheth not his own horn the same shall rust from lack of tootling.

Silent contempt is the kind you feel for somebody you know you can't lick.

What's the idea of all this talk of dividing the year into thirteen months—don't the rent come due often enuf?

Diner—Waiter, it seems to me that the portions have grown smaller than when I was here last year.

Waiter—It's only by comparison, sir; we have enlarged the restaurant.

Though Summer Fall should winter Spring.

Work with a smile is work worth while.

DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Thursday, June 9.

"Songs of Schooldays" is the name of the program in which the National Saville Male Quartet, broadcasting through WEAF, will take us back to the happy days of youth when they were blithe, carefree students. A ladies double quartet, with Frank Munn, tenor soloist, will be a feature of WJZ, WJR, KDKA and KTW, and soon after WJZ and the Blue Network will broadcast "Our Musical United States," with vocal and instrumental soloists and orchestral music. The Philadelphia Quartet Club, comprising some of the finest solo voices of the German singing societies in the east, will present a program both varied and interesting from stations WIP and WGBS. The Holland Sea Club, consisting of members of the Dutch colonies, will render a program of national and folk songs of their native land through the microphone of KFI. Other musical features will be a concert by the Municipal Orchestra through WPA, the Mickwitz Club through WVIC, and the Knights Templar for the pleasure of WOC fans.

Wave lengths in meters on left or station time on the right. Times are Eastern Daylight Saving and Eastern Standard. Black type indicates best features.

K. H. S. TENNIS TEAM AT ALBANY SATURDAY

Saturday afternoon the K. H. S. tennis team will play Albany High at Albany. Kingston has only lost two matches this year, both of which were lost to Schenectady.

Coach Palen has been drilling his charges and has them ready for the contest Saturday.

Freddie Parent, assistant baseball coach at Harvard and old-time major league star, has been named coach of the Lawrence club of the New England league.

The majority of sports writers pick the Yankees or Athletics as pennant winners on the American league this year, with Connie Mack's aggregation the favorite.

We always used to think Willie Keeler started that "Hit 'em where they ain't" stuff. That was before we saw Freddie upended swing that erratic club of his.

Frankie Gilbooley, veteran outfielder, has been sold to Rochester by Toronto. He had been a persistent hold-out on the Canadian club and there was little chance of terms being reached.

Cub players recall that Outfielder Metzler, acquired by the White Sox, was a member of the North side squad in the fall of 1925. He was sent to Wichita Falls, where he played a brisk center field.

When Jimmy Bowler of the Tigers was charged with an error in the game of April 29, it marked the first time a misplay appeared after his name since September 15, 1925. That made a total of 32 games without a blunder, he having gone through all of the 43 games he participated in last season without being charged with a howl.

First Standard Pound

The original pound weight was derived from the weight of 7,000 grains of wheat, all taken from the middle of the ear and well dried. Thus, the grain is the basis of the standard division of the pound. In the time of Henry VIII 7,000 grains became the standard.

Have Perfect Athletic Records

The photograph shows Capt. Vic Hanson of Syracuse university and Bennie Osterbaan of Michigan—both All-American ends and nine letter men in their respective schools. They are old-time rivals on the basketball and baseball fields. Both graduate in June with perfect athletic records.

What the League of Nations seems to need is a Judge Landis to run it.

Harris Predicts Tough Scramble for Pennant

"It is unfortunate for those who have faith in the power of pennant claiming that the schedules have to be played out."

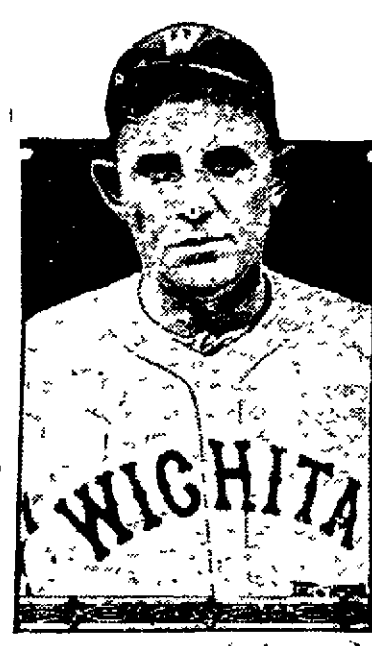

"As far as we of the Washington club are concerned, we are expecting to fight it out with three other clubs—New York, Philadelphia and Detroit—in what should be the most spirited competition faced in years," says Manager Bucky Harris.

"When we are able to use our full strength, we will have an improved ball club."

"Tris Speaker will be a tremendous help to us and will give us almost a perfect outfield. Our catching staff is strong, the infield is solid and the pitching staff is promising."

"We are not at our best now for a flying start, that is so much to be desired, but we'll have to make the best of it and do our best."

Still Good Pitcher

Do you remember Otis "Doc" Crandall, who from 1908 to 1917, was one of the best pitchers of the New York Giants. Crandall is now part owner and pitcher for the Wichita club of the Western league. This photo shows him as he is today.

Some Good in "Fusing"

Fusinus has not much to recommend it, Oregon, I have observed, does not do as well on fusing with sulfur, and this is because it is possible that some of us would not recommend it. Portland Oregonian.

DUAL CELEBRATION FOR ST. LOUIS' CHAMPIONS.

St. Louis, June 8 (AP)—A dual celebration for St. Louis' two major champions was announced here last night by the Lundbergh reception committee. The plan is to have Colonel Charles Lundbergh participate with the St. Louis Cardinals when they raise the pennant symbolizing world championship honors in baseball here on June 18.

The flag raising will follow a public reception and parade in the fier's honor the morning of June 18, the committee announced. Invitations to the event have been extended to several dignitaries, including President Coolidge and most of his cabinet. Acceptances have been received from the fier's mother, Mrs. Evangeline Lodge Lundbergh of Detroit, Secretary Dwight F. Davis, of the war department, and Governor Sam A. Baker.

Earl Carroll in Atlanta Jail

C. S. Attorney General Sargent Orders Carroll To Begin Serving His Sentence of One Year and a Day.

Greenville, S. C., June 8 (AP).—Earl Carroll, New York theatrical producer, must pay the penalty for perjury in the Federal investigation of his famous "bathub party."

After he had lain in a hospital here for nearly two months, the producer left here early today in custody for the Atlanta Federal penitentiary to begin serving his sentence of one year and a day. He had collapsed April 13 on a train bringing him from New York to Atlanta and for several days was reported to be in a state of coma.

With the receipt of a report from examining physicians that he was suffering from no illness, the producer was removed to Atlanta, where he was ordered yesterday by Attorney General Sargent to begin his prison sentence. The attorney general said he had not hurried in deciding the step so that there would be no danger to Carroll's life, but the physicians' reports said "there was nothing the matter" with the producer. As an outcome of the examination, the attorney general indicated that a petition for executive clemency filed some time ago would not be referred to President Coolidge for action.

Carroll's sentence has not yet begun, the attorney general declared, but would date from his admittance to the prison.

Mrs. Carroll, who had been at her husband's bedside during his stay here, was visibly affected by the attorney general's order and protested that it was more than "taking" him to prison that means taking him to Atlanta. She and a brother, Norman Carroll, left on the same train with the producer.

Arrives At Atlanta.
Atlanta, Ga., June 8 (AP).—Earl Carroll, the aftermath of whose celebrated "bathub party" was a jail sentence for the New York theatrical producer, arrived here today to begin serving a term of a year and a day in the federal penitentiary for perjury.

Carroll was brought to Atlanta by train from Greenville, S. C., where he had received medical attention at hospital after a collapse aboard train en route to the prison here from New York city recently.

Could Stand One More Period of Bickering

Here's one they tell about a Holyoke police officer, according to the Springfield Union.

It was in midwinter. There had been a heavy snowfall, and the weather was bitter cold at two o'clock in the morning when the patrolman spotted an aged man shuffling along toward him. The man was coatless and hatless and wore a pair of slippers. His teeth were chattering as he pleaded with the officer to accompany him.

"My wife threw me out," he said. The officer went to the home. The door was locked. The woman of the house refused to admit them. Yes, she had thrown him out. No, she wouldn't let him in, she was all through with him.

"Why, you wouldn't treat a dog like that on a night like this," urged the cop.

"I think more of a dog than I do of him," answered the wife. A relative living downstairs heard the racket and, coming up, was admitted by the wife. As the door opened the officer got his foot inside.

"Come now," coaxed the officer, "let him come in again."

"I tell you I'm done with him," shouted the good wife. "He's never been any good. He's sixty-six and we've been like this since we were married."

"How long have you been married?" the patrolman inquired.

"For thirty-eight years," was the reply.

"And you've been fighting all those years?"

"Yes, all the time."

Whereupon the patrolman threw the full weight of his body against the door and it opened wide. Then he reached over and hauled the old man in.

"If you have stood him for thirty-eight years you can stand him for another night," said the officer. And the old man stayed inside.

Straight Lines Feature Billie Dove's Chic Coat

Billie Dove, the "movie" star, whose spring collection of coats is an alluring one, wears for daytime and sports a smart camel's hair coat of slender lines, becomingly belted and cuffed in tan calfskin. Pockets, too, are treated with this new fur trimming. Miss Dove appears in a scene from her film, "The Tender Hour," wearing this modern sports coat.

Styles of Elders Are Adapted for Children

The extent to which the styles in women's dress are copied in miniature for children is interesting and amusing. Belts are used in many of the new models, even on frocks for very little girls. In a daytime dress which is suitable for one of six, or one of the age of ten or more, English broadcloth in china blue is made with a round neck yoke of white muslin, to which the dress is attached in box plaits with fagoting in blue silk. A narrow string belt tied at one side lifts the frock into a slightly bloused effect, and a band of white is added with fagoting around the bottom. Another model is shown in which the material, peach-colored crepe de chine, is laid in small side plaits in front, with yoke and short sleeves of the crepe scalloped at the lower edge. The bottom of the frock is finished with a narrow band of blue crepe, and a string sash of the blue lifts the dress to blouse slightly about the hips.

Black and White Frock in Fashion Picture

In a season notable for its use of brilliant color in day clothes, a frock in black and white strikes an arresting note of contrast. It stands out and dominates the surrounding colors, insuring its wearer instant distinction.

For this reason a well-dressed woman invariably adds a number of models in this combination to her spring wardrobe, afternoon dresses chiefly, as black and white best lends itself to models of this decorative character.

If she is doubly wise, she also includes a black tulle, as nothing is smarter than a trim, two-piece black suit worn with a white crepe Vionnet blouse and a small, black felt hat enlivened by a touch of white.

Dressmakers Seek New Ways of Using Fringe

New uses for the familiar fringe are eagerly sought in Paris by dressmakers who seemingly must have exhausted all possible arrangements of the popular trimming.

Any variation of the usual fringe effect takes a dress a long way toward success. When there is a new fringe and other pretty qualities as well, the model is sure to create interest at the fashion shows.

Worth shows a flowered chiffon dance dress with a splash of coral fringe under the right arm. There is an uneven hem and a trailing bow sash to give a unique grace to this frock.

Longer Coats Are Worn With New Paris Pajamas

Parisians now are trying on in the privacy of their boudoirs what they will brazenly parade this summer at the Lido. Pajamas show longer coats as a rule, and more latitude is allowed these costumes in the matter of printed silks. Flowers, usually formalized, are either large or else very small.

Leong offers a pajama suit with straight trousers lined somewhat snugly at the hips. A fitted top piece to the trousers is cut like a waistcoat.

Brocade Stocking Fad Introduced in Paris
Even Paris has been started by a new style. Cafe crowds on the boulevards recently were aroused by the new brocade stockings in which many young women suddenly appeared. These stockings, the most sensational of the spring styles, when worn with very short skirts are most arresting. Every embroidery is combined with generous open work, and black is the favorite color.

Scene of St. John's Exile
Patmos is a small mountainous island in the Grecian archipelago. According to generally accepted tradition, the island of Patmos was the place of exile of the apostle St. John. Here he lived about the year 94 and saw the vision set down in the Book of Revelation.

Eleanor Gunn Says

Velvet Evening Capes and Velvetene Sports Coats Engage Attention Among the Well-Dressed, While Flannel and Other Things Come Under Discussion.

New York.—That summer evening wraps of chiffon velvet are being chosen by many well-dressed women is an item on which to ponder. For several summers, shawls have been our idea of what was proper for warm weather wear, and shawls in many lovely colorings continue to fascinate, but that insatiable thirst for novelty must be taken into account. So clever shopkeepers are offering beguiling evening wraps of quite a different type.

The cape naturally seems to be a worthy substitute for the shawl. Capes of sheer velvet lined with brilliant or soft colors contrasting with the cape itself have attained popularity among women who see elegance in simplicity. A black chiffon velvet cape, lined with rose, flesh, or any preferred color, answers the perplexing question of what to wrap about oneself for evening, and answers it practically. Many of the summer evening wraps are uncolored.

Pleating Still Popular.
Capes, after the manner of Re-boux, sometimes have a heavy cord finishing the neck-line and ending in tassels. Jenny has scored with a scarf-like collar made of alternating bands of cloth and fur set on vertically, and this idea has been copied in chiffon with light furs, such as ermine.

The luxurious practice of making evening wraps of lace and chiffon is varied somewhat by having them of georgette with lace. Pleating continues to be well liked for the summer wrap, while the tufted and quilted taffeta coat holds its own.

For sports wear, one finds that velvetene coats have staged a mighty comeback, which seems rather remarkable, since it was such a short while ago that they were in vogue and rather overdone. Velvetene may be had in such effective colors and is so serviceable that one can well understand its revival. A certain exclusive shop let us into the secret that one of the best-dressed girls in town orders a velvetene coat to complete practically every one of her summer sports frocks.

Yokes Are Important.
A word of praise must be said for the flannel coat and, for that matter, for the flannel suit, as well. From some smart French resorts comes word that gray and beige lead to sports wear, and every one feels confident that the long anticipated vogue of gray is about to begin.

Less pleating and more intricacy of cut may be considered as the latest word in sports detail. Yokes, notched and otherwise, have become of supreme importance, both blouses and coats inclining to yokes of one sort or another.

A lively interest in the sweater suit is manifested in junior circles and for skirts that offer a pleasing contrast to either the sweater or jumper. It is not surprising that pleated plaid skirts with plain cardigans or overblouses should make an appeal, especially when the fabric of the skirt is repeated in the casually knotted bandanna.

An Innovation in Belts.

Belts continue to be of interest, especially when they are in themselves worthy. The belt does not match; but on the contrary contributes something of color to the costume. An innovation in the matter of belts has been achieved by using a wide plaid ribbon bowed at the side on a pastel sports frock of two-piece genre, the skirt in sectional plaids and the overblouse cut with a V neck-line.

The status of the decorative silk scarf has been somewhat affected by the return to favor of the animal scarf. One will be glad to lay aside a fox scarf for a smart silk scarf before long, not only because of greater comfort in warm weather, but because the animal scarf is not appropriate with a sports costume. It belongs with the tailored suit for town wear with dresses of certain types.

The Kickers Organize

A self-styled Society of Kickers has instituted itself in Paris, its object being that members shall growl and kick when prices appear to be too high for their tastes or pocketbooks. This will not bring the high cost of living down. There is only one thing that will and that is for purchasers to abstain from buying anything but necessities. A Paris shopkeeper specialist has evidently anticipated this as he is advertising "necessity luxuries." What are they? Well, for the French they are bathubs and first class seats in express trains as all who ever tried to ride third class in France will know.

New Metal Alloy

Harder than steel or softer than lead, according to the way it is made, is a new alloy reported in Popular Science Monthly. It was discovered by T. D. Kelly, London chemist, who calls it wittium, and declares it to be impervious to powerful acids. It may replace platinum, he says, wherever that costly metal is used in industry because of its resistance to oxidation and corrosion. The alloy is prepared from cadmium and earth metals.

Too Much to Expect

Angry the policeman on point duty stopped the little car that had tried to sneak past his outstretched arm.

"Don't you see me?" he demanded of the driver.

"I—er—must confess I did," returned the motorist meekly.

"Then why didn't you stop?" asked the policeman, becoming more angry than ever.

"Well, I lost my head," explained the motorist sadly. "I had just spent half an hour in getting this thing to start, and I thought it was a pity to stop her so soon."

THE PLAYING CARD AS A COSTUME MOTIF APPEARS AT NICE—THERE ARE EXCELLENT REASONS FOR SUPPOSING THAT FLAT CREPES HAVE MANY RIVALS

New York.—Although all the feminine world goes to Paris and to fashionable foreign resorts to see styles, it is frequently Americans who wear them. Judging from the interesting costume sketched at Nice, women may be less eager to lay their cards on the table than ever, since they have discovered that they make an effective trimming. The embroidered cards that lift this costume from the ranks of the mediocre to the interesting, add a touch of bright color also, that touch of red without which one seems sartorially at sea these days.

Designers of women's clothes are not averse to taking their inspiration where and how they find it. Everything is grist that comes to their Add one red and one green pepper, one clove of garlic, each finely chopped; add two tomatoes peeled and chopped. Cook fifteen minutes, add one teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, a few dashes of celery salt and salt to taste.

For Sunday night supper a bowl of popcorn and milk is delicious. It may be ground if preferred.

Popcorn Sauce.—Sift four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one teaspoonful of salt, the same of sugar, one cupful of wheat flour, one-half cupful of corn flour, four tablespoonfuls of shortening and one cupful of freshly ground corn. Add enough milk to make a mixture to roll out. Cut into rounds and bake on a hot griddle, turning when one side is brown to brown on the other. They may be baked in the oven if preferred. Colonial Costumes Designed Especially For Pageant

Miss Lady Pepperell, in Colonial costume of the Martha Washington type, is at the Rose & Gorman department store this week where she is demonstrating the Lady Pepperell costumes, a product of the Pepperell Mills at Biddisford, Me. Lady Pepperell comes to Kingston at a very opportune time when there is becoming interested in costumes of the early periods and is particularly interested in the colonial costumes due to the annual costumes which will be given in Kingston on June 30 by the Ulster County Farm and Home Bureau and Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Lady Pepperell is an author of Colonial costumes, having some 4,000 in her travels throughout the country in the demonstration of the lines which she represents. In the demonstration of costumes she appears at the Rose & Gorman store in Colonial costume and will be pleased to meet and talk with anyone interested in the early colonial costumes. She will be glad to assist anyone in the designing of Colonial costumes for the Pageant and will give such hints and suggestions as she can.

A year ago when the Lady Pepperell new line of linens was placed on the market at a demonstration in Boston, Miss Lady Pepperell was engaged to preside at the exhibit at the Colonial costume. The idea made such a tremendous stir that she was engaged permanently by the company to travel about the country in her present capacity and demonstrate the product of the mills.

Miss Lady Pepperell's costume, which is complete in detail, having been copied from originals, attracted the attention of members of the Pageant committee and she was asked to attend the meeting Tuesday evening held at the high school where she was presented and an opportunity given to study her costume. She is at present engaged in designing panniers to be worn by the Colonial participants in the Pageant. When completed the design will be on exhibition at the Home Bureau office.

Lady Pepperell will remain for the week at the Rose & Gorman store where demonstrations of the Lady Pepperell products of the mills will be continued. The mills were established in 1845 and the present demonstration is of their latest product.

40 Hours Close At Benedictine

The forty hours' devotion which started at the Benedictine Hospital at the 8 o'clock Mass on Sunday was impressively closed at the chapel of the institution Tuesday night at 7:30 when Solemn Benediction was offered by the Rev. John de Krom, assisted by the Rev. F. X. Fitzpatrick and the Rev. Martin J. Leddy, C. S. R. The Rev. Thomas Sanderson, C. S. R., acted as master of ceremonies.

The devotions started with the singing of a hymn by the Benedictine sisters' choir after which the Rev. Thomas Sanderson, C. S. R., gave a very inspiring sermon on a subject appropriate to the occasion. His text was founded on the three essentials of man's quest for happiness: life, light and love. The priest clearly brought out in his address that when sought spiritually the trilogy of matters would produce the desired effect but in mortal life their results were not of a lasting degree.

After the sermon and the rendition of praises in Latin by the choir, the Blessed Sacrament was carried in procession by the Rev. John de Krom, chaplain of the hospital, through the chapel and a portion of the institution while twenty little flower girls, dressed in white, strewed flowers before the Holy Eucharist in procession. A number of altar boys, student nurses, nurses and Benedictine sisters also made up the procession.

A number of eucysts composed the worshippers at the religious ceremony that formed an admirable spectacle in the chapel with its altar profusely surrounded by flowers and burning candles which produced a halo about the exposed Eucharist.

CHRIST OR CHAOS?

Flood Aftermath Challenges Nation Health Forces In Red Cross Campaign

Scenes in the Red Cross health campaign among refugees from the Mississippi Valley flood. Insert shows Dr. William R. Redden, Red Cross Medical Advisor, directing health work in flood zone.

ON a front that extends from Southern Illinois to the Gulf of Mexico, a battle is raging on the outcome of which the health of the whole nation may depend: it is a battle of man against microbes, and the battle-front is the flooded Mississippi river valley.

Dr. William R. Redden, National Medical Officer of the Red Cross, is leading the fight for man, with the cooperation of Federal and State health authorities and resources of the United States behind him. His problem is so to combat the menace of disease in the disaster zone that not only will there be no serious outbreak among the thousands of crowded food refugees, but that no aftermath of disease will threaten the health structure of the whole country.

Despite the odds against them, the health officers have been successful to date. More than eighty counties of seven states flooded, or slime-coated from receding waters; thousands of dead animals submerged, or in the fields; drinking water polluted, mosquito-breeding lakes by the mile—all these and many other factors contribute to one of the gravest health problems in the nation's history. Yet the health conditions in the disaster zone are better than normal, and there have been no epidemics.

A health program was inaugurated in the flood area which demanded safe water, safe milk, universal typhoid inoculation, mosquito control, malaria preventives, disposal of dead animals, garbage and sewage, and ample medical service for the refugees.

Approximately 300,000 persons have been inoculated against typhoid, 125,000 against small pox; already 1,378,158 grains of quinine have been issued; 73,000 gallons of oil for spraying mosquito-breeding areas; and lime by the carload has been sent in to disinfect carcasses. The munitions in this war are medical and chemical, but their bulk looms like the munitions of a World War battle field.

The forces engaged in the campaign include 31 health officers, 13 sanitary engineers, nine sanitary inspectors, 23 physicians, and 118 nurses, the latter under supervision of Miss Elizabeth G. Fox, Red Cross nursing advisor during the emergency, and her assistant, Miss L. Malinde Haver.

It often happens that few things resemble each other less than two legal opinions.

Another style problem is making a 100 per cent American look at home in English trousers.

Accord Sets Good Example

The village of Accord sets an example for other communities to follow on June 30, Pageant Day, when the seven places of business will be closed from 12 o'clock noon until six o'clock in the evening. Infants Fond of Music

Some infants may show a preference for different kinds of music even before they are a year old, in the opinion of a mother who has found that the time to teach children appreciation of good music is when they are very young, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. Instead of singing her babies to sleep, she plays to them and has discovered that pieces of different rhythm and tempo seem to have different effects. One child apparently preferred music of rapid movement, while another evidenced a liking for slower melodies. Five or ten minutes of soft playing usually sufficed to lull the children to sleep and often their crying could be stopped by playing for them.

GEORGIA PHILOSOPHY

The man of the hour has been planning for years.

One-Way Trolley Before Aldermen

to the night and all day on Sunday getting things in shape for the different departments, so that on Monday morning the business of the city went on as usual, without inconvenience to any citizen.
The thing which stands out more than any other one thing is the spirit of mutual helpfulness which existed during the emergency, which still exists. A call at the Central Fire Station or at the Municipal Building will demonstrate this now.
Very sincerely,
E. J. DEMPSEY, Mayor.

Mayor Dempsey, who was present, said that in addition to what was contained in the communication he desired to express the city's appreciation to the various organizations, which had offered the use of their rooms to store the city records.
To Meet With Firemen.
A communication was read from W. H. Kolts and W. B. Martin inviting the council to be represented at a meeting of volunteer firemen, business men and civic organizations to be held Thursday evening at the city hall to take action on whether an invitation should be extended to the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association to hold its 1928 convention in Kingston.

President Sharkey appointed as such a committee Aldermen Clare, Moore, Fox, Radel and Relyea.
At the request of Alderman Clare, the purpose of the invitation being extended to the aldermen to meet with the firemen was explained by Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy, who called attention to the fact that in order to have the convention here it would be necessary to raise the sum of $8,000. That amount could not be raised by the volunteer firemen without assistance from the city and the business interests. Eight years ago when the convention was held here about $3,000 was needed which the firemen were unable to raise and John D. Schoonmaker came to their rescue and raised the amount for them.

Insurance Adjustors Coming
City Clerk Styles read a communication from former Mayor Palmer Canfield regarding the city hall fire which was printed in The Freeman that evening. It was ordered filed.
Mayor Dempsey said that for the information of the aldermen he had employed an appraiser for the city to meet with the insurance adjusters who were expected to be in Kingston Wednesday morning. The insurance, carried on the city hall amounted to $80,000 on the building and $6,800 on the furnishings.
New Flag Needed.
Judge A. T. Clearwater sent in a communication which was written before the city hall fire calling attention to the need of a new silk American flag to be hung in the council chambers. Action on the request was deferred until there was a suitable place to hang the flag.

Water Board's Invitation.
John D. Schoonmaker, president of the board of water commissioners, extended a written invitation to the common council to attend the annual inspection of the city's water shed on Monday. The aldermen will meet with the water board at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning and the return to Kingston will be made some time that afternoon.
Eight of the thirteen aldermen present signified that they would accept the invitation. The other five, owing to business reasons, were unable to accept.
Mayor Dempsey stated that he also had been invited and had accepted the invitation.

Commend U. & D. Railroad.
Alderman Clare said that he desired to commend the Ulster & Delaware railroad for installing the new flashing light signals at some of the railroad crossings and thought the railroad committee should take the matter up with the West Shore railroad to see if it would not install similar signals.
The railroad committee was directed to take the matter up with the West Shore officials.
Want Ten Feet Deeded.
Attorney Henry Kline was present and was extended the privilege of the floor. He said that N. B. Gross, Harris Brown and himself had purchased a property on upper Broadway. A survey showed the property had a depth of 160 feet but the deed gave the depth as 90 feet. Investigation showed that the additional ten feet was in front of the property where the city line had formerly extended, but for over fifty years the property owner and in order to have a clear title to the property he asked that the common council give them a deed to the ten feet.
The matter was referred to the corporation counsel to investigate and report back to the council.

Motions and Resolutions.
The following motions and resolutions were introduced and referred to the proper city boards:
By Alderman O'Reilly—That lower end of West O'Reilly street be repaired; that holes in Summer street in front of No. 12 be filled in; that city engineer estimate cost of building a septic tank to care for the drainage in the vicinity of Summer street, South Sterling street and Valley street.
Alderman Mann—That East Strand be given attention.
Alderman Radel—That German street be topdressed and rolled; that a guard rail be placed on Hudson street.
Alderman Mann—That holes in Murray street be filled; that Chambers street be topdressed and rolled.
Alderman Moore—That East Chestnut street be given attention.
Alderman Flannery—That Purvis and DeWitt streets be repaired.
Alderman Hames—That holes in Elmendorf street be filled; that Cornell street be given attention.
Bills and claims were then audited and the council adjourned for two weeks.

CLINTON MONUMENT MOST BEAUTIFULLY SITUATED.

Former Senator Paogue of Tennessee was a visitor in Kingston on Saturday. He came with an introduction to Judge Clearwater. The senator is a gentleman of leisure who has entered an entirely new field in American biographical research. He is a grand-nephew of James Knox Polk, the eleventh president of the United States, and is preparing a biography of all the vice presidents, to be illustrated with their portraits and the monuments erected to their memory. While in Kingston he secured a photograph of the monument of Governor George Clinton, the fourth vice president, who held that office from 1804 to 1812, the sesquicentennial of whose election and inauguration will be celebrated here with great eclat on the 30th of July.

Senator Paogue was charmed with the location of Governor Clinton's monument, which he said was more beautifully situated with the surrounding graves of the soldiers of the Continental Army and the massive and impressive First Dutch Church than were any of the monuments and graves of the thirty-one of the vice presidents, photographs of whose last resting place he had secured. He took from the judge a letter to Mrs. Helen Morton, the youngest daughter of Vice President Levi P. Morton, who lives on the Morton homestead, "Ellerslie" at Rhinebeck. He proposes to return to Kingston for the sesquicentennial celebration on the 30th of July.
